SELECT BIOGRAPHICAL OR CRITICAL LITERATURE ON D.S. (more items up to 1998 about SF and utopia can be found in "Darko Suvin: A Checklist..." listed under 2000 in PUBLICATIONS below, 288-90). Copies sent by editors' press services without full info are marked with "?".

Number of entries in the Arts & Humanities Citation Index... [in their style of counting, but subtracting self-citations]: 1975-79: 88; 1980-84: 139; 1985-89: 104; 1990-94: 96; 1995-mid-98: 29, in all 456.

The most cited work was Metamorphoses of Science Fiction. Web of Science (including the Arts & Humanities Citation Index) indexes 424 scholarly journal articles up to 2014 that cite/reference Metamorphoses; at least 226 of those citations have occurred since 1993. This is by strict definition of "scholarly," for the entries in English only were surely above 630. Proquest lists 304 dissertations and theses that cite it, including 206 between 2000 and 2014.

The library and biographical papers of DS have been donated to the Università Statale di Milano and are being gradually transferred there. The 3 sections of Biographica, SF and Utopian Fiction, and Drama and Theatre are housed at the archive Centro Apice, see centroapice.altervista.org/index.php/patrimonio/fondi-di-apice/99.html, while other fiction and criticism will be in the outlying library of the Polo di Mediazione Interculturale e Comunicazione, Piazza I. Montanelli 14, 20099 Sesto S. Giovanni (MI).

Criterion for the following select list of critiques was not necessarily agreement. It does not render justice to a few names with whom I was in constant osmosis, such as Fredric Jameson. Ca. 70% of items deal with SF, utopia/nism, the novum, or similar; Chinese and Japanese authors are listed with surname first. A full select list of over 230 items can be provided upon request with justification at dsuvin@gmail.com
